

Bite

Better business for dentists

Featuring in the February 2012 edition of Bite magazine

In February 2012, Bite magazine will publish a special Product Guide exploring the latest developments in ergonomic products and services available for the dental industry.

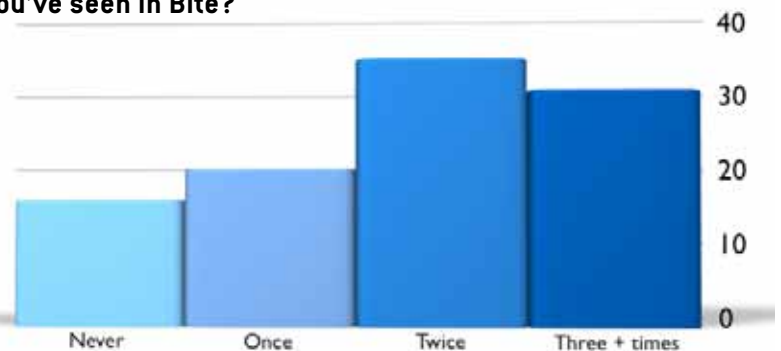

The format will be designed to showcase available products and give you the space to educate our readers about the benefits of your product or service.

For each advertisement bought, we will layout the same space for you with supplied copy and images to showcase your offering in more detail.

Don't miss this annual opportunity to be part of our ergonomics Product Guide. Contact Mark via any of the numbers or email below to explore how Bite can work with you to promote your business.

Have you enquired about products or services you've seen in Bite?
